

MILK FOR BABIES AT SIX STATIONS

Nathan Straus Laboratory
Distributes 27,075 Bottles of Infants' Food.

One hundred and twenty-five Washington babies, most of whom were sickly little creatures two months ago, are now thriving on the pasteurized milk prepared at the Nathan Straus laboratory, at 1319 H street northwest.

Though the laboratory has been in operation less than three months, 27,075 bottles of purified, modified, and pasteurized milk have been put up there, and sent out to the laboratory's various substations for consumption by the babies of the city.

In this time, the laboratory has also given out 1,150 free feedings to children through agents of the Associated Charities and visiting nurses. Several hundred children have been examined by the specialist on infants' diseases, who is in attendance at the laboratory daily from 2 to 3 o'clock.

The rapid growth of the Nathan Straus laboratory, and the demand made by mothers of all parts of the city for pasteurized milk has necessitated the opening of six substations, where bottles of pasteurized milk may be obtained daily. These substations are located as follows:

Infants' and Children's Dispensary, 4604 N street southwest, open daily from 11:30 to 1.
Colored Social Settlement, 18 L street southwest, open daily from 12 to 1.
Friendship House, 324 Virginia avenue southeast, open daily from 12:30 to 1:30.
Novel House, 617 Seventeenth street northeast, open daily from 1 to 2 o'clock.
Georgetown University Hospital, Thirtieth and N streets, open daily from 2 to 3 o'clock.
Physicians are in attendance at all of these substations.

SKIM MILK SIGNS NO BAR TO ARREST

The signs, "We Sell Skim Milk Only," conspicuously displayed in some lunch rooms since the pure milk crusade began, constituted no defense whatever against liability under the law, according to a decision handed down by Judge Pugh, in Police Court, this morning. He said those charged with selling weak milk would be shown no leniency because of them.

The case which called forth this ultimatum was that of Basil B. Baden, who keeps a stand at 1408 P street northwest, charged with selling milk not showing the required amount of fat.

Baden claimed that if the milk had been properly shaken before being poured from the bottle it would have met all requirements. Judge Pugh said he did not doubt this at all, and imposed the minimum fine of $5. He warned him in the future to see that the milk was well shaken, as he thought that this one thing alone was responsible for more than half the arrests.

REWARD FOR PARR NOT YET SETTLED

Secretary MacVeagh to Confer
With Him Before Forming Any Opinion.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh has not made up his mind whether the Government will pay Richard Parr $100,000 or $1,000,000 for disclosing the sugar weighing frauds at the port of New York. At all events, he will give no information as to what amount he will decide upon until he returns to Washington next week. He said today:

"I will hold a conference with Mr. Parr when I return to Washington, and until that time I shall have no opinion at all to express as to the amount of the reward. We all appreciate Mr. Parr's work."

SUGAR TRUST CASE RESTS WITH JURY

Court Says Spitzer Must Be Considered as Confessed Perjuror.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The jury in the case of Charles R. Helke, Ernest W. Gerbracht and James F. Bender-nagel, accused of conspiracy to defraud the Government in connection with the sugar imports, began consideration of the evidence in the case today.

In charging the jury, Judge Martin referred directly to the testimony of Oliver Spitzer, pardoned by President Taft to testify against his former employers and exonerate them to take into consideration the fact that he was a confessed perjurer.

Regarding Helke, the court ruled that if the jury believed he had two sets of books kept, one showing the true and the other the false weights, he must be convicted.

NOTED CHURCHMAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey Passes
Away in Presbyterian Institution of Which He Was Head.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—The Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey, one of the most prominent Presbyterian clergymen in the country, and a former moderator of the church, died in the Presbyterian Hospital, of which institution he was president, today. Death was due to cancer.

Dr. Dickey was born in Wheeling, W. Va., seventy-two years ago, and received his theological training in the United Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Allegheny City, Pa.

He came to Philadelphia as pastor of Calvary Church in 1878, and in 1889 became associate pastor of the Bethany Church.

He was to Baltimore and return Saturdays and Sundays via Pennsylvania Railroad. Tickets good returning until Sunday night—all regular trains except the "Congressional Limited."—Adv.

He was to Baltimore and return, Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Every Saturday and Sunday. All trains both ways, both days, except Royal Limited.—Adv.

Popular Excursion, Baltimore and Ohio R. R. June 12th: $1.00 to Harpers Ferry, Charlestown, Summit, Stephens, and Winchester, and return. Special train from Union Station 8:00 a. m., returning same day.—Adv.

FAIR ADVOCATE

T. P. THOMPSON,
Who Is Hustling to Secure From Congress the Location of the Panama Exposition in His City.

"LOGICAL POINT, LA." ON HOTEL REGISTER

Using the slogan "The Logical Point" the citizens of New Orleans who are compelled to travel about the country have hit upon a happy plan to encourage the belief that New Orleans is the real place for the Panama exposition. The name "New Orleans" no longer appears on the registers of the hotels of the country and already the name of the Louisiana city is even missing sometimes from the postal matter sent South.

T. P. Thompson, chairman of the executive committee in charge of the work of pushing the fight for the exposition, is registered at the Riggs House in the regular New Orleans way as "T. P. Thompson, The Logical Point, La."

At the request of the executive committee of New Orleans and following a suggestion contained in the telegram from Representative Broussard, Mr. Thompson is now in Washington right on the job. He is before the Committee on Foreign Affairs daily untiring in his efforts to have the big show awarded to his city.

"We realize now, and in fact do not expect the matter to be reached at this session, so we will introduce a regular bill next session before the Committee on Expositions, where it will be properly handled," said Mr. Thompson to The Times today.

Mr. Crawford H. Ellis, president of the New Orleans Board of Trade, and a member of the exposition committee, is also here working for the New Orleans fair site.

PRINCE FUSHIMI SEES THE BIG GUNS

Inspects the Naval Factory and Then Goes to Mt.
Vernon.

Prince Fushimi was an interested spectator at the naval gun factory today and was shown every nook and cranny, big guns and little guns by Beekman Winthrop, Assistant Secretary of the Navy. The prince is more interested in the manufacture of great weapons than anything else in America and he said so frankly. He won laurels as an officer of the Japanese navy in the Russo-Japanese war.

The prince and princess, accompanied by Ambassador Uchida, members of the legation and of the prince's retinue, left the Willard at noon and proceeded to the Navy Yard in automobiles. After the tour of inspection, the party were entertained at luncheon on board the Mayflower by Secretary Meyer of the Navy.

Tonight the distinguished visitors will be entertained at dinner by the Japanese ambassador, which will be the farewell social event of their stay, as they leave Washington tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock for Annapolis.

The prince and party will go to Annapolis by trolley, while his private car will be sent to Baltimore. From Annapolis they will take the train for Boston, thence to Chicago and San Francisco, where they will sail for Japan on June 21.

OLD CLERKS NO, FEAR, THE CABINET SAYS

Welfare of Aged Employees to Be Looked After Until Law Is Passed.

Members of the Cabinet reiterated today their determination to look after the welfare of the aged Government clerks until Congress has enacted the legislation to put into effect a contributory retirement plan for all superannuated members of the classified service.

Friends of the Administration were disposed to laugh at the argument of Private John Dalzell, who is out with an interview that the Administration's treatment of the civil war veterans will result in defeat of the Republican party at the polls next autumn.

The members of the Cabinet say that there is absolutely no ground for fear that the veterans or other aged clerks will be turned out of office until some arrangement can be made to look after them.

The Administration is still confident that the legislation for the contributory retirement plan will be enacted by Congress before the close of the present session. For this reason, some members of the Cabinet have decided that nothing shall be done in demoting or dismissing aged clerks until after the legislation is secured.

According to the present plan, the legislation will go into effect July 1.

A LITTLE STORY ILLUSTRATING THE VALUES

Two of the salesmen in the factory approached our buyer during the process of packing and begged permission to buy two suits each at the price we have named for this sale. They had always had the privilege of buying at cost price, but the suits at $6.50 were so much below what they could buy them for previously that they solicited the favor.

A manufacturer's entire stock of LINGERIE WAISTS

SALE PRICES AVERAGE VERY NEARLY HALF

This collection is again the result of the exodus of garment manufacturers from the downtown section of New York to more modern and commodious quarters uptown. This maker decided on a clean sweep—took no stock from his old quarters into the new. He is one of our best makers and of course we had an advantage when he disposed of his stock. Three lots.
